Driveway FAQ's

Do I need Planning permission?

Generally, you will not need planning permission if you're renewing or replacing your driveway.

Adding Value

Adding a good quality driveway or patio adds between 5-10% to your home depending on where you live and the overall value of your home.

Factors that affect this value include:

1. The quality of the driveway
2. The number of cars you can fit in it
3. How it blends in with the property and properties surrounding it.

It's up to you to use the correct contractor that will offer a solution, based on your property style, size and your driveway.

Driveway Installation

We offer driveway installation which follows guidelines and installation details as set out by leading manufacturers. The construction that we offer is built to last and offers substantial guarantee, which we don't believe anyone else can match.

Patio Design

The team were very polite, tidy and kept me informed throughout the progress of the work taking place.

From natural stone, to brick, cobbles and the latest fantastic innovations from leading companies like Marshalls, when it comes to patio design the world is your oyster.

Patterns, shapes, contemporary and smart or natural and relaxed, there will be products and designs to suit you.

With our experience of installation, knowledge of available products and eye for design, you can be assured of a refresh or garden transformation that you'll love.

Resin Bound & Resin Bonded Driveways

This relatively new and specialist material needs specialist installation. We can talk you through the advantages of this approach which include the opportunity to be creative and decorative as well as benefit from low maintenance. However, using an experienced knowledgeable installer is absolutely key, as factors such as temperature and weather conditions can affect the installation.

We have the know-how to install these innovative driveways in homes and commercial premises such as schools and car parks.

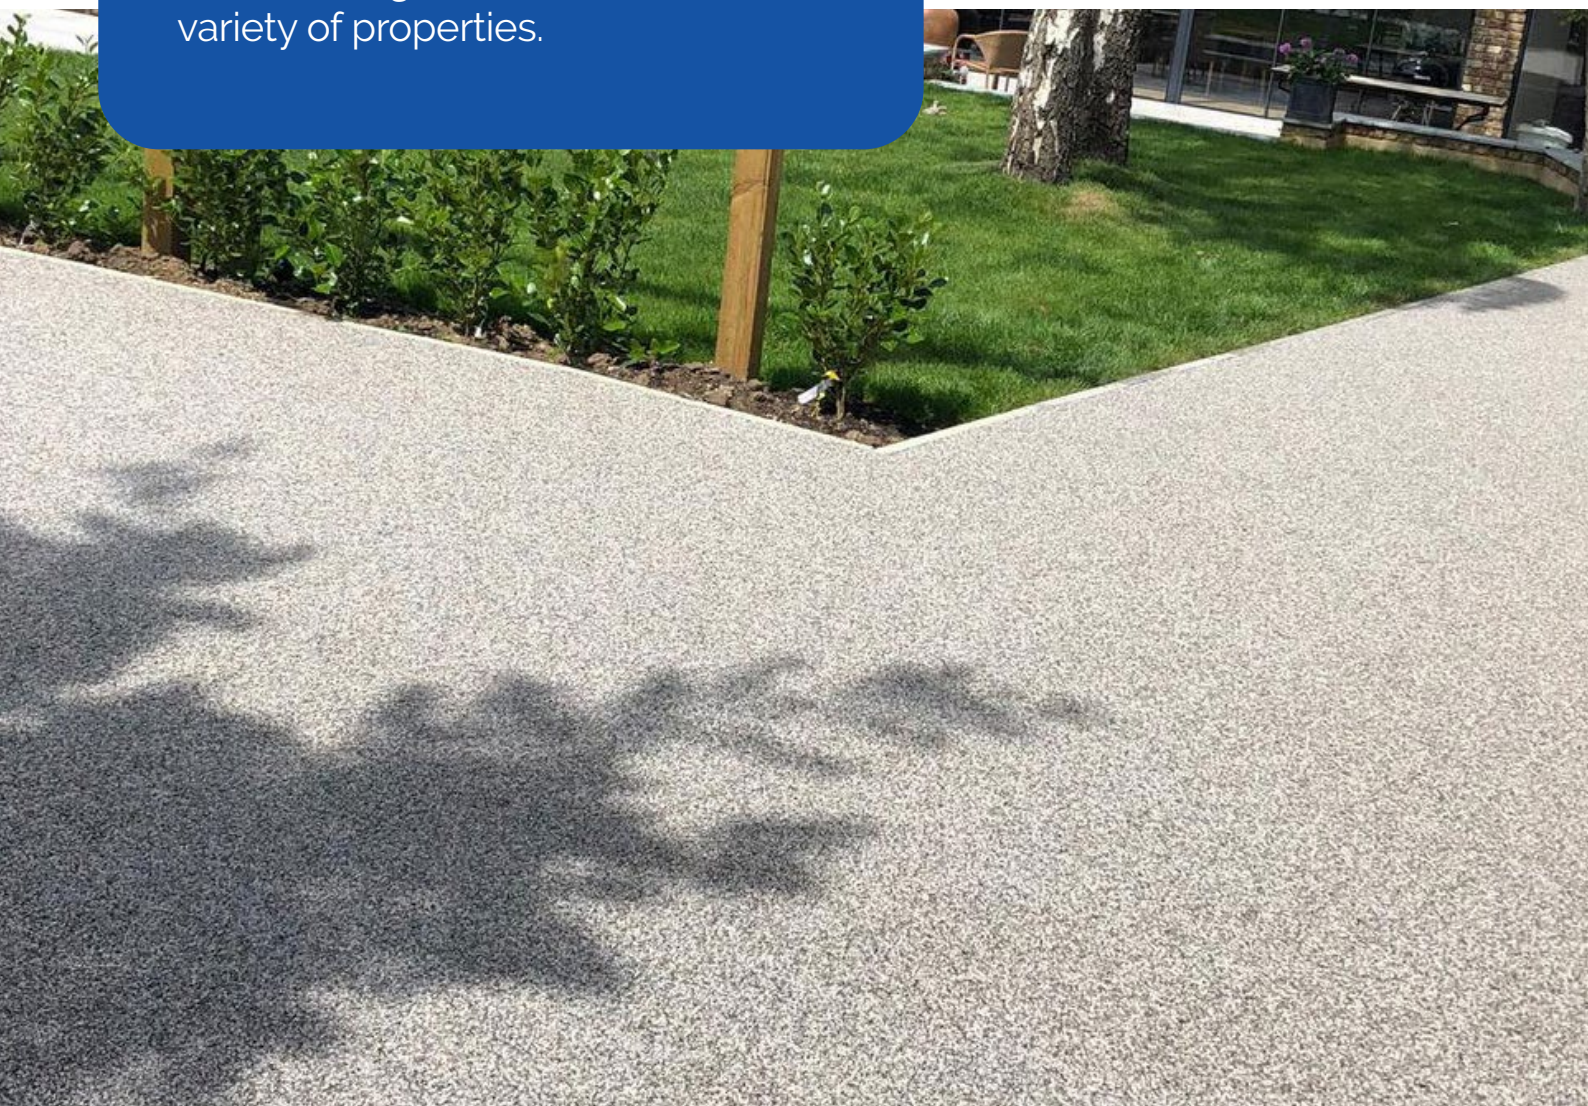

The friendly Ritepave crew worked at an incredible speed and did a fantastic job

Resin Bound Installation

Resin Bound Paving gives a smooth and durable surface. It's formed from stone and resin, natural stone, aggregate and a 2 part resin binder that are mixed thoroughly and laid on to a base, a solid sub straight that's between 15-20 mm deep depending on stone size.

The stone is completely bound together in resin, there is no loose stone. It's a permeable option and gives a contemporary finish that is hard wearing and smart for a variety of properties.

They delivered a great service which was tailored to suit my needs. Highly recommended.
